A large, empty rectangular box with a double-line border, intended for a personal response.

Respond to what you have learned in the History section of this course (Lessons 6 through 8). There is no correct answer. You will be graded on the thoughtfulness and depth of your interaction with material learned in this class. Below are three possible ways of organizing your response. You may choose one of the ways or come up with your own way to express your response. Limit your response to the front of this page.

1. Impact from the past. Select one idea, movement, personality or statement that has made an impact on your view, hopes or life decisions. For example, describe how an idea or movement has encouraged, dismayed or informed you.
2. Meet history. You might choose to do some time travel in your response. What era or place in mission history would you want to visit with the idea of bringing back valuable insights for mission today? Where would you go? Who would you seek out?
3. Back to the Future? Identify one point of history that you would like to have turned out differently. How would you like to have altered history? What would be the outcome of these alterations?
